She Was Not a Drinker and Missed Its Point.

"My wife has just heard that old story about the man on the train and the corkscrew," said my neighbor. "The story goes this way: Mar rises in a car and says, 'Is there a man from Bangor, Me., in the car?' 'No other man gets up with an inquiring look on his face. 'I'm from Bangor,' says he. 'Well,' says the first feller, 'let me take your corkscrew.'"

"My wife thought the story was pretty good. The other night I was out in the sitting room reading, and she was in the parlor talking with the woman from over the way. I had to stop reading and listen to this:

"Oh, say," says my wife, "I heard an awfully funny story the other day. Now, let me think a minute. Can't be that I've forgotten it. Let's see. Oh, yes. This is it. The other day on the train a man got up in the car all at once and shouted just as loud as he could, 'Is there a man from Bangor, Me., in this car?' Every one jumped and looked at the man. One person down near the door stood up and said, 'I'm from Bangor, sir.' The other man then said, 'Will you be kind enough to let me take your screwdriver?' There! Isn't that funny?"

"He, he, he," snickered the other woman a little easy. "Yes, that's a real cute story; just as funny as it can be. But what did he mean? I guess I don't understand what it is about."

"I could almost hear the wife thinking. Then she says: 'Well, my gracious, that doesn't sound so funny now. I wonder what the trouble is with it? Guess I didn't tell it right. But no matter. Oh, you were going to tell me about that new ribbon cake that--' and then I continued with my literary studies."—Lewiston (Me.) Journal.

How Would You Have Said It?
There is much in the way a thing is said. "Your cheeks are like roses," said Aunt Flora when Lois came in from a January walk, glowing from the cold and exercise. Lois smiled and looked lovingly at Aunt Flora. Aunt Margaret entered the room a minute later and glancing at Lois as she stood by the fire said, "My! Your face is as red as a beet!"

The red grew deeper on Lois' face, while unconsciously she turned petulantly away from Aunt Margaret, who prides herself on being "plain spoken." Aunt Flora's way is best. She can say the right word at the right time, too, even the word of admonition and reproof, but she says it in such a manner that one can think only of the Scriptural "apples of gold in pictures of silver."—Ada C. Sweet in Woman's Home Companion.

Millions Given Away.

Asthma, bronchitis, hoarseness and all diseases of the throat, chest and lungs are surely cured by it. Call on S. J. Hodgkinson, Druggist, and get a trial bottle. Regular size 50 cents and 41. But there's no need to feel like that. Listen to J. W. Gardner, Idaville, Ind. He says: "Electric Bitters are just thing for a man when he is all run down, and don't care whether he lives or dies. It did more to give me new strength and appetite than anything I could take. I can now eat anything and have new lease on life." Only 50 cents at S. J. A STILL-BORN TICKET.

We live in strange times, when compared with the times of our ancestors whose conceptions of life and speed were from twenty to forty miles per day, which mode of life and travel gave rushing times to those engaged in the work. There is nothing worthy of notice by any of us when it is learned that politicians travel three thousand miles to attend a political convention. Life and speed have kept pace with each other, and are together as much at this time as at any time in the history of the race. But there are other things quite as extraordinary in their nature as the speed at which we travel and the distance there is covered in our life relations.

Among the extraordinary things of our time may be classed the efforts of men who travel across a continent to a political convention that brings forth as its best effort a still born ticket. There has been much said in a surprised manner by the press about the absence of enthusiasm at the trusts' convention at Philadelphia, but there is no cause for surprise, or cause for expression including surprise, at the stillness that prevailed in that convention.

The education of the people leads to silent decorum in the presence of the dead, which should explain the cause of silence at the trusts' convention in the Quaker city. Enthusiasm would have been very much out of place in that assembly. Those present, knowing it would manifest a spirit of heathenish hilarity to make a noise not included in the spirit of Christian civilization, wisely refrained from any unseemly manifestation of feeling, when the manner of each said in the language of silence, get ready for the funeral of our still born dead. Appropriate emblems of mourning to be worn until November will be a procession of very sick trust stockholders, headed by Mark Hanna in proper representation in gold. A body of imperialists in court costume weeping over the prostrate form of Secretary Hay exhibiting the Nicaragua canal bill to royalty in the distance, in gold. McKinley with Porto Ricans in chains looking looking in the direction of the Philippines, in gold. The United States Senate voting to exclude visiting Boers from the floor of the United States Senate, in gold; or any of the many causes that contributed to the death of the still-born. A trust combine in the act of robbing a poor family of its last loaf of bread, will be appropriate in gold. A United States congress at the feet of the trusts forging chains for Porto Ricans, when engaged in passing the Porto Rican bill, will represent the truth in outline, provided it is in gold.

There is not the least danger of making a mistake when engaged in selecting an emblem that will be appropriate, provided some general word to the human family is chosen to represent a cause of death. There is only one rule that must be observed which rule requires all emblems shall be in gold. No emblem in plebeian silver will be tolerated. The still born was of Patriotic stock, which was the real cause of its death on American soil. But a proper respect for the deceased demands that the patriotic metal should be used at the obsequies of the foreign failure.

Due respect for the deceased requires that no plebeian Democrat, populist, Silver man, or Lincoln Republican shall be admitted as a mourner for the more than sufficient reason that they might indulge in plebeian ways by making faces and becoming hilarious at the funeral, which they will be sure to become in some form while under the impression that they are Americans and free men in that higher and better sense that will continue to expand according to American ideals.

When a cleaning out of the rottenness of imperialism and the iniquity of trusts is made by a cyclone of American air put in motion by American manhood in November, the plebeian element in general society will rejoice that they live in a land of ballots and free schools.

When political clouds arise and threaten the people as they have menaced them for the last four years, clouds arise in the minds of many about the ability of the people to govern until here seems to have been a clearing way of storm conditions at Philadelphia, which will end the arrogance of imperialism and the power of trusts. The hoops on Hanna's barrel may evolve a losing that may cause it to collapse to the disappointment of those who are depending upon it for a contin-

nance in power to enslave and oppress the people, which will be a relief to patriots to genuine lovers of mankind among them. William Jennings Bryan is not only a patriot but in him there is the hope of patriots who believe he is equal to the requirements there will be upon him to save his native land, its homes and its people from the curse of trusts and the enslaving power of trust capital fostered by despotism in newly acquired territory and imperialism at home.

Nevada as a
Gold State.

"Nevada isn't such a bad State now after all," remarked Fred Mitchell of Austin at Salt Lake lately, "even if she has at present only 45,000 inhabitants. And there is good reason to believe that she will yet develop so much gold that she will be spoken of in far higher terms than in the terms of disparagement used in the recent past because of her reputation as a silver State. There is one thing about Nevada which people don't generally think of and that is she has more school money in her treasury than any other state.
"There is gold in the State and a whole lot of it more than California has; only heretofore everybody has been looking for silver and never thought about gold. But now that systematic search is being made for the yellow metal, it is being discovered in increasing quantities, and there will be a great gold output by and by."—California Miner.

A Token of Respect.

A Formal and Open Protest

Know all men, and particularly you, John P. Richardson, of the city of Reno, State of Nevada,
That, whereas, it has come to me and is generally understood that you have located a mining claim within the confines of Reno, which said mining claim embraces the lands and lots upon which I and my family have built what we are pleased to call our "Home." On said lots of land we have during the last 26 years planted trees and flowers, together with a garden of which we are more or less fond. And now, if common report is true, you, in your insatiable lust for gold, would despoil me and my family of what we have for a quarter of a century been building up.

Think, my dear John P. of the effects liable to ensue if you proceed to do a general mining business along State street in Reno. Think of the havoc your mining scheme will produce on my garden, where with toil I am rearing a crop of onions, potatoes, corn and such. Think of the trees and shrubbery planted and nurtured by the care and attention of myself and my daughter Annie. Think of the wreck our home would be in after you have excavated under it in quest of gold. Think of how my house would look after your excavations; our trees, garden and shrubbery destroyed; our house hanging on the verge of a hole in the ground, while the inmates are compelled to get in and out of it on a plank.

So in brief, I beg and protest at the same time, that your inordinate lust for gold will not destroy a happy home. I agree with you that gold is good, but suggest that God is better, and that your own good sense of justice is still better. Please, John P., don't. H. H. Brock.

Big Sales of Nevada Horses

Nevada horses and mules are no longer a drug on the market. There are buyers all over the State and several large bunches have recently changed hands. Several smaller bunches of range horses were sold by other ranchers in the same locality at prices ranging from $4 to $12.

The readers of this paper will be pleased to learn that there is at least one dreaded disease that science has been able to cure in all its stages, and that is Catarrh. Hall's Catarrh Cure is the only positive cure known to the medical fraternity. Catarrh being a constitutional disease requires a constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure is taken internally, acting directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system, thereby destroying the foundation of the disease, and giving the patient strength by building up the constitution and assisting nature in doing its work. The proprietors have so much faith in its curative powers that they offer One Hundred Dollars for any case that it fails to cure. Send for list of testimonials.

Termo.

The terminal point of the N. C. O. has been given the appropriate name of Termo. It is a bustling little burg, and a big hotel is being built, also cattle corrals and many other structures. Borings have been made for artesian wells, but with little success so far. A brick store is soon to be erected. As yet Termo is principally a village of tents.
